Cambridge Police Department Holds Ceremony to Promote Eleven to New Ranks

October 13, 2010 – Yesterday, the Cambridge Police Department held a Promotion Ceremony in the beautifully renovated Main Library in Cambridge where eleven men and women of the Cambridge Police Department were promoted to their new ranks.

Police Commissioner Robert C. Haas, City Manager Robert W. Healy, Mayor David P. Mayor, and City Councilors Denise Simmons, Sam Seidel, and Leland Cheung joined hundreds of family, friends, and colleagues to support and congratulate the promotees.

Promoted to the position of Deputy Superintendent were Stephen A. Ahern, Steven J. DeMarco, and Joseph L. Wilson, III. Promoted to the position of Police Lieutenant were Pauline M. Carter-Wells, James A. DeFrancesco, John P. Normile, and George J. Sabbey. Promoted to the position of Police Sergeant were Thomas J. Glynn, Susan M. Kale, Kelley A. King, and Robert N. Lowe.

All those promoted were in attendance at the Main Library except newly promoted Sergeant Thomas P. Glynn, who is currently serving in Afghanistan with the United States Military. Sergeant Glynn was, however, able to watch the ceremony live via Skype as his wife and young son were present at the ceremony to accept his badge.
