Cambridge Police Department Now Using PropertyRoom.com to Auction Items

August 24, 2010 – The Cambridge Police Department now uses PropertyRoom.com to auction all of its stolen, seized, found and surplus goods and vehicles.

<http://www.PropertyRoom.com>, founded in 1999 by former police officers, combines expertise in law enforcement procedure, inventory tracking, logistics, merchandising, marketing and customer service to provide an effective auction solution for law enforcement and municipal surplus agencies.

Before PropertyRoom.com, law enforcement agencies like the Cambridge Police Department were responsible for tracking and storing auction inventory as well as coordinating, promoting and conducting live auctions. This site acts as a service business for agencies by taking over the process and freeing-up space in crowded law enforcement property rooms.

Because of our relationship with PropertyRoom.com, the Cambridge Police Department will no longer be conducting auctions. Instead, items will be released on a regular basis to be sold on the site and buyers will be able to find goods from CPD as well as other law enforcement agencies from around the country.
