

Join your community colleagues for an afternoon at the movies!

"Unnatural Causes" is an acclaimed documentary film series exploring the underlying causes of health disparities. Our neighborhoods, schools, access to resources and open space all determine the health of an individual or a whole community. This fall, we will screen three of this seven-part documentary series about racial and socioeconomic inequalities.

DO WE ALL HAVE AN EQUAL CHANCE
FOR HEALTH?

Thursday, November 13: "When the Bough Breaks"

2:30 - 4 p.m. at City Hall Annex, 344 Broadway, Cambridge

Why is the number of infants who die before their first birthday higher in the U.S. than in other countries? And why is the rate twice as high for African Americans as for white Americans?

Discussion facilitated by Georgia Simpson May, Director of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health Office of Health Equity, and Claude-Alix Jacob, Chief Public Health Officer for the City of Cambridge

PLUS... YUMMY MOVIE SNACKS!

Contact: Marsha Lazar
Tel 617.665.3655
mlazar@challiance.org

Sponsored by Cambridge Public Health Department, Community Health Network Area (CHNA) 17, Men of Color Task Force, Cambridge Commission for Persons with Disabilities, Employee Diversity Committee, and Boston Medical Center HealthNet Plan.